

WHITE TOO MUCH FOR THE BOERS

THREE BRITISH FIGHTERS.

Makes a Sortie and Drives Them From Their Gun Positions Without Losing a Man.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
ESTCOURT, Natal, Nov. 17, Friday.—A runner arrived here from Ladysmith today bringing dispatches from General White, who reports all well there. He adds that the Boers have been driven from their positions and that the British have taken possession of the Boer camp. The Boers are reported to be seriously short of provisions.

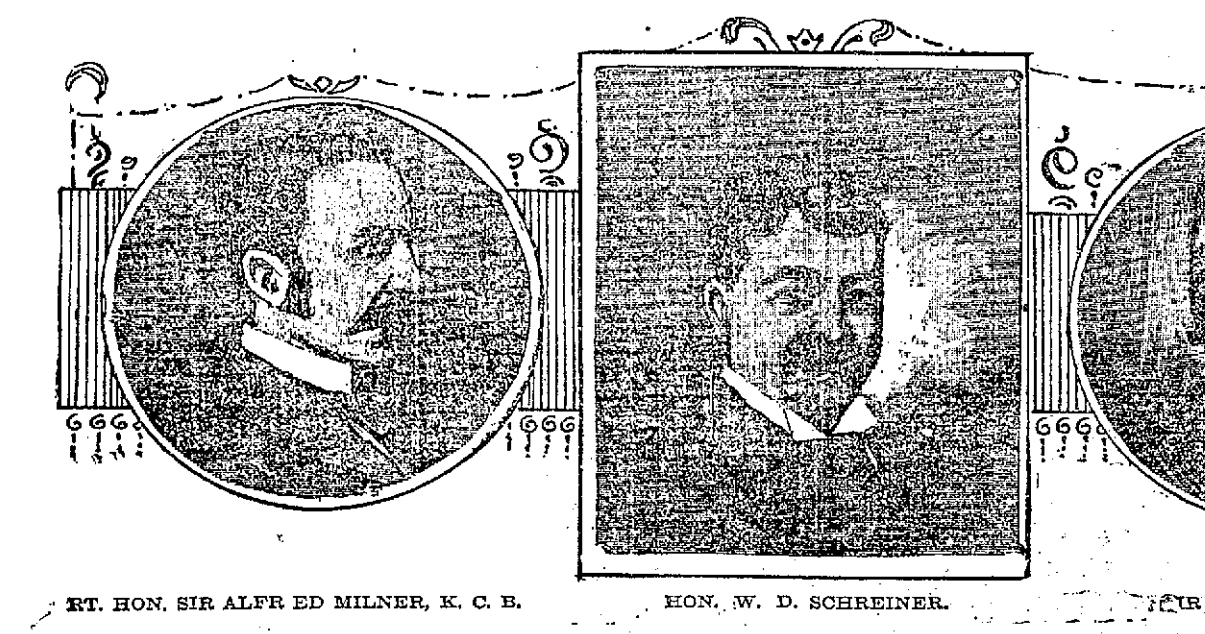

BOER GUARD AWAITS BULLER IN THE PASSES.

LORENZO MARQUEZ, Delagoa Bay, Friday, Nov. 17.—The official visitors reports that the British are in the passes, near Colenso, was completely destroyed Wednesday, November 16th. The Boers are looking forward with great interest to the impending encounter between Colenso and Ladysmith, with the advancing British. About 600 burghers with cannon are guarding the Helmsdrift Pass, eighteen miles from Dundee, to battle any strategical attempt to recapture the Ladysmith.

BOER ACCOUNT OF BOMBARDMENT OF LADYSMITH.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
LORENZO MARQUEZ, Delagoa Bay, Nov. 18.—Delayed dispatches from a correspondent with the Boers near Ladysmith to the Tribune, dated Saturday, November 18th, say all well there. "Reports from Ladysmith Sunday, November 18th, say all well there."

EBELL ROLL OF HONOR. HARVARD AND YALE DRAW

Is Your Name Recorded on The Great Annual Football of the Year Results in a Tie.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 18.—With cool, bracing weather, a well-nigh perfect field and two of the strongest football teams in the country trained to the utmost, it is little wonder that more than 25,000 people had arranged for seats in Soldiers' Field today to see the great annual match between Harvard and Yale, scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock today. The grandstand of these who sought the grand stand perched upon the banks of the Charles, were the Harvard crimson and the Yale blue and white. The Harvard cheer, which the remainder of a loyal New Haven crowd flouted the blue of Yale and were prepared to urge their favorite to victory with the yell that has done great service in years gone by. The wind came lazily from the southward, and there was little chance of position on the field.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 18.—The Harvard players when they reached the field were very confident and appeared to be in great fighting trim. The only exception was Boal, who was in rather bad shape from his injury received early in the season. The coach, however, said that they expected he would last at least one half, but of course required. R. A. Sargent would be put in his place.

JUSTICE CHAMBERS OUT.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Chief Justice Chambers of Samoa has resigned, and his resignation has been accepted for the United States, one of the more important of the Berlin treaty, by the President. The resignation will also be made to Great Britain and to Germany.

MAY SAVE THE CHARLESTON

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The Colugo started today from Hongkong for the wreck of the cruiser Charleston. Naval officers here believe she carries a large number of wreckers, in accordance with Admiral Watson's directions, and at least sufficient to make a thorough examination of the hull of the ship. If she can manage to approach the wreck and lift off the big turret guns it is believed that the Charleston can be floated. The main source of anxiety is the weather, which at this time is likely to be stormy.

PICNICS AT SHILOH, MOUNT PARK.
Sunday, November 26th—Closing picnic of the season of 1899.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1899.

A broom corn tresser is being formed back East. Its promoters should be able to make a big clean-up and incidentally gather in lots of dust.

The Englishman who went up in a balloon to see the meteoric showers may not deserve as much credit for bravery as is being accorded him. He may have been short-sighted and adopted the middle plan in order not to miss any of the show.

The British soldiers are said to have wept when they were captured by the Boers at Nicholson's Nek. They may have been thinking of how they were about to exchange their army rations of roast beef and bread for the dried meat and hard tack that the burghers subsist on during war times.

Iowa has gone on record in a pleasing way as regards her appreciation of the hospitality extended to her soldier boys during their sojourn here. The passage by the State Executive Council of resolutions thanking the citizens of Oakland and San Francisco for their warm heartedness is a charming tribute that will do us good in more ways than one.

Now that the Supervisors of Stanislaus county have been upheld by the courts as regards their resolution preventing the shipment of game from their section of the State, amateur hunters have at last been provided with a haven for their exploits. When quizzed by their friends as to why they return home empty handed they can make reference to the ordinance in question and then tell all kinds of fish stories.

Vice-President Hubert is apparently going to have the laugh on the doctors, for although a couple of weeks ago they declared all hope was gone and announced that his end might be looked for at any moment, he is progressing so favorably that he is worth half a dozen dead men right now, and at the rate he is going will be himself again pretty soon. Whereat the whole country will rejoice, for we can't spare men as good as he is.

HANNA'S RETIREMENT.

The first weapon in the hands of the Democrats as regards national politics has been removed by the announcement that Mark Hanna will resign from the Chairmanship of the National Committee with the opening of the campaign next June. Hanna has always been a target for the Democracy on account of the fact that it was he who practically got McKinley into the Presidential fight originally, and as he is a man of large business interests there were naturally many opportunities to cartoon and deride him. One thing, however, could never be denied even by his greatest enemies and that is that he is a man of singular ability, for he proved the fact only too well both in the way he handled the national campaign and the masterly manner in which he conducted his own fight for the United States Senatorship from Ohio.

Personally Hanna is said to be a man of very positive character, and the philosophic element in his make-up was aptly illustrated the other day when in answer to the query of a friend as to how he felt when he saw the hideous cartoons that were made of him he replied: "I thank God every time I see one that I don't look like it." Although with his retirement from the chairmanship the actual management of campaign affairs will pass out of his hands, he will undoubtedly continue to be a power behind the throne, for with McKinley a candidate Hanna is certain to be found fighting for him. The Democrats who last campaign probably gained several thousand votes by the untruthful and unfair attacks upon Hanna expected next year to do even better with him, but now they will have to sheathe their weapons, for they will have no excuse for assailing a man who is no longer posing as a national character. This new move is only one in the careful line of preparations in evidence since McKinley decided to seek re-election and it becomes more and more apparent each day that not a chance of any description is going to be taken as regards crowning the administration with deserved success.

MUNICIPAL REFORM.

The proceedings of the National Municipal League just concluded at Columbus, Ohio, were closely followed by all those interested in improved civic government, for as the organization consists of delegates recruited from all parts of the country, it is but natural that the interchange of thought as to their practical experiences will bring about much good. The most interesting development was the discussion as to a new system of conducting municipal elections, the ideas in that regard embracing the nomination of city officers by petition, a blanket ticket on which every name shall appear in alphabetical order regardless of party, and a method by which the Mayor shall be elected for a two-year term, while the tenure of Councilmen shall be six years, so arranged that only one-third of them shall go out of office each two years.

The questions involved carry weighty arguments on both sides and the evident desire to entirely remove municipal elections from political influence is in itself a subject worthy of the most profound consideration. Although those in whom party feelings are deeply ingrained will deprecate any proposition calculated to remove partisan lines from the conducting of such elections, it must in all fairness be admitted that in the strict party sense there is no reason why either State or National political issues should be injected into a local campaign, and in this connection it may be added that the people almost invariably refuse to recognize them, as witness the practical illustration in San Francisco the early part of the present month. On the other hand, it should be said that as there are always certain local issues to be determined at each election, the pledge of party faith to one side or the other makes the fight more pronounced and more likely to be accurately determined than if everything were on a go-as-you-please basis and each candidate indulging in "gallery plays" in order to catch the popular fancy.

As to the proposition to make the terms of Councilmen six years, casual inspection of the subject conveys the impression that there would be far more gained by such a method than would be lost. The City Council is a body that has to be in close touch with the actual needs of the city and the most practical forms of management, and as a proper knowledge of this description can only result from actual experience, it is plain that just as a Councilman becomes of actual working value to the people his tenure of office expires and he has to step aside to make room for an untried successor. The danger of having each body take a different view of the method of conducting or the necessity of certain improvements is in itself a grave matter for consideration, and there can be no doubt that a system where the majority would always remain in power would be replete with many advantages. As against this, though, would be the effectual bar to the people being able by their votes to make a clean sweep of an objectionable administration, and in the case of a corrupt body, it can be seen that its power of continuance would be beset with many public perils. The discussion by the National League on these points will be of great value to students of municipal reform, for the subject is one that reaches to the very heart of our social conditions and embraces an issue that may be considered paramount to everything else in the line of governmental needs.

While the proposition to extend the limits of the Yosemite Park may be satisfactory from the standpoint of the property owners whose interests it is proposed to purchase, the new plans should not be concluded without some provision being made for the stockmen, whose bid is hard enough at present and who may be shut out of business altogether by the changes. In seasons of drought and so forth it looks as if some arrangement should be made whereby sheep and cattle could cross the reservation in transit from one range to another.

As an indication of the peculiar characteristics of the Boers, a case is cited where a postmaster who was charged with stealing $400 was acquitted because he could have just as easily taken five times that amount, but did not do so. That's strange; it might have been thought that the Boers would have looked at the matter in an entirely different light. The natural inference regarding members of that race would be that they would want to go the "whole hog or none."

The official count in Kentucky appears to be conducted upon the same lines as some whist games—the side that keeps the score wins. It is evidently going to be a very tight fit between Gosbel and Taylor, for when it gets down to a proposition of one man or the other winning by just a single vote it is apparent that the side that can pull the most strings is going to get in.

Everything in the line of sectional feeling as regards where the library should be located should be buried at this time. First and foremost you must get the money to put it somewhere, and after that point has been attained it will be time enough to listen to arguments as to why

Comments on Passing Events.

By HENRY A. CHITTENDEN.

The death of Dr. J. H. Stallard of San Francisco, at his home in Menlo Park on Wednesday, takes out of the world a good man, but very sad to all that knew him for the world. It has been for a term of years my business to write the newspaper obituary notices and characterizations of men and women, and I have had the privilege of knowing Dr. Stallard for many years. This is perhaps the only case in my experience when Providence has arranged that the personal summarized history of a man has been published before his death. Such a history of Dr. Stallard was given in this department of THE TRIBUNE in its issue of September 20th, 1899, and I have had the privilege of knowing Dr. Stallard for many years. A MINISTER'S MISTAKE

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon a matter. "The clergyman started to read the tract and found that it began: 'Take ye up ye Jews; the best Cough Cure.' This was hardly what he had expected and after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over and found—

LITERARY CRITIC OF THE GREAT WEST

From the New Orleans Harlequin Concerning HENRY A. NEWBERRY of THE TRIBUNE Editorial Staff.

A literary critic of the great West, who has been attracting a great deal of attention throughout the country of late, the exact need of praise and patronage to which it is entitled and not a whit more or less than what it is in Kentucky. There, nothing is lost, it is on record seems to me it is like one analyzing the art of Maudslayi Naro, or the value of Camille, or Plake as poor little Tess. I should feel a sense of degradation, as it

LAW AS TO BIRTHS

In this city will average 100 a month, though a much lower average is struck in the reports of the Health Office. This discrepancy is occasioned by the fact that monished him of the penalty of failing to record the birth at the Health Office.

As a consequence physicians filed their reports with a fear of consequences if some physician were to have the temerity or very rarely at least, record a birth.

Hereafter the requirements of the ordinance in this regard will have to be observed by physicians, and unless they do so they will have the penalty of being prosecuted.

Associated Charities found the woman was in a deplorable condition and, at the instance of J. W. Newton, an aid society to have the babe admitted as an inmate to the Poughkeepsie Asylum, but the requirement was refused.

The big showing made last month is due in a measure to the efforts of the attending nurses of the Health Office who made note of all the births published in the paper and then ascertained the names of the physician in attendance, and who then ad-

Wood. It is only natural that the teacher feels highly gratified at her pupil's success. It is a fact that the vast majority of both of these clever young women that Miss Bayan has met with such success in her chosen profession.

After reading the above item it is natural to inquire as to why our large and wealthy churches do not pay wages of a sufficiently respectable amount to keep such a few of these young women from losing some of its best singers, who have had to go East in order to demand a salary, in any degree commensurate with their ability. Is it not a fact that, perhaps in many of our churches, the members of our "music committees" are no longer chosen for their musical abilities, but rather from a business standpoint? And is it not possible that such committees could understand the value of good music as a very necessary accessory to good Christian religious worship." It may or may not be conducive to a deeply religious atmosphere, but it is certainly a poorly-paid soloist "murder thing," but the fact remains that there is not a respectable choir salary paid to any singer in the country. The soloist is the one who, of course, most singers have to take what they can get, but is it any wonder that they long and strive to get just where the soloist is? The soloist is the one who, in wealth than many have here at home, are asked to offer a soloist less than $500 a year, and the choir gets $1,000 to $1,200. If good soloists here, or on the coast, for that matter, receives $450 a year, they have consolation on the fact that the choir are paid less than the soloist. A number of soloists from the east that there still remain in Oakland many singers just as efficient, if not more so, than those who have long since gone, and the latter class are constantly reporting splendid successes.

Mr. Johns, who is of no importance, but whom we have lost such valuable vocalists as Mr. Batzfelder, Mrs. Olive Reed-Cushman, Mrs. Beatrice Priest, Misses Ann Martin, and Miss Grace Carroll, and hear of the contemplated departure of several more of our best musicians, we are inclined to stop and ruminate.

that we are to lose even our great help, and that we are to be ranked as its most prominent lender, both practically and morally. A man to whom we have been so indebted, and who has done for us so much, and who has been so conscientious an exponent of good music; a man who has been always called upon to do more than he could do, and who has done it with a noble shrift. To Mr. A. M. Benham, who has for nineteen years successfully directed the choir of the church, and who has, therefore, had the honor of directing choruses of such magnitude as will hardly be equaled in many years. It is therefore with sincere regret that the report of his resignation

From the old familiar position of controller of the company, Mr. E. J. King has been elected another leader with such a kindly, good character and sterling ability.

There are to be no changes in the ready hands of the company, as they have been made by the resignation, including Edwin Dunbar Crandall, P. Hughes, Wm. B. King, and others.

It will be noted with interest that Mary Flinch is being rather severely criticized by the Eastern opera-goers. She is spoken of as "misleading her English" vowels so ferociously as to overshadow the vocal powers of the likes of Mrs. Barron Berthold and William Mertens, also of "Tivoli" fame, are winning friends and influence with the Castle Square Opera Company.

At the Joffe reception Saturday, December 16th, a new novel program will be presented. John W. McCall, the well-known pianist, furnishes a full program of his own compositions, being assisted by a number of vocalists, including Mrs. Lena Carroll Nicholson, contralto; Mrs. Alfred Abbey, soprano; and Putnam Griswold.

The Lombardi Opera Company, which was stranded in Kansas City last week, has been reorganized, with the prima donna, Signora Costamartini, as backer. She has $6,000 in cash, and valuable jewelry and wardrobe. The company is headed by a company which furnished this Surety with two such singers as Signora Costamartini and Signora Costamartini.

Madame Emma Nevada will probably be assisted in her San Francisco concert by Signor Albert, basso. The Signor will be remembered as the basso with Soalchi's last Western tour. The dance for Madame Nevada's concert will probably be

WHAT THE SINGLE TAXERS HAVE TO SAY.

Edited by EDGAR POMEROY.

The Men's League of the First Congregational and First Presbyterian churches participate every once in a while in some really vital discussions. But my how some of them, most particularly the men, have been lately, and their respective papers urged the application of their principles.

Nevertheless, it is a good sign to see such men reading really democratic essays—even if they do sometimes vote against the principles they advocate—in said essays.

We saw many single taxers in the congregation of the First Congregational Church last Sunday evening—and they looked pleased. I wonder why?

PERSONAL RECOLLECTIONS OF HENRY GEORGE BY JUDGE JAMES G. MACQUEEN.

(Being the third of a series of splendid articles on Henry George, published in THE TRIBUNE.)

Twenty-six years ago I had the privilege of meeting in a casual way, the great philosopher and philanthropist whose memory is today honored by tens of thousands of disciples throughout the English speaking world.

Henry George, then, loved and admired by a few friends whom he cherished, and with whom he freely exchanged opinions and confidences, was generally strong love for mankind in general he delighted in the ties and associations of home, family and friends. A profound student of philosophy, he never lost interest in the social side of life, but devoted time well spent which was devoted to innocent pleasures and relaxing social intercourse.

I had the privilege, soon after meeting him, to become a welcome visitor to his home, to the pleasant, well-furnished library, and to the editorial room in which he edited the San Francisco "Evening Post." I saw that great, but gentle, and unassuming man, sitting at his desk, and I saw him in the quietude of his daily life, studying the social problems of his time during the intervals of rest which he snatched from his exacting labors, which he earned his daily bread. I saw the change come over him by which he was transformed from a man of affairs, a business man, to a man of letters, a philosopher, and a self-denying servant of humanity. I saw him giving up the pursuit of wealth and fame and the pursuit of power and influence, and the pursuit of the material world, and the pursuit of the material world, and the pursuit of the material world.

MUSICIANS ARE HARD AT WORK.

INCORPORATION OF THE SINGLE TAX.

He first published his views on the land question in connected form in 1872, in a pamphlet entitled "Our Land and Land Policy," which, however, was not widely read at the time. It consisted of two parts. The first part was devoted to the history of the ownership of the land, and the second part presented in general outline his proposed remedy, which was what has since been designated "the Single Tax." I purchased this pamphlet shortly after its publication, and read two or three times, with great interest. The first part, which is the historical part, was very good, but the second part, which is the practical part, was very bad. It was full of errors, and it was full of errors, and it was full of errors.
